

From: Vinger, Tom
To: 'Jones, Rodger'
Sent: 10/18/2013 1:17:53 PM
Subject: RE: One question on the EIC

No sir. You get a receipt with your picture on it right on the spot, which can be used for voting.

From: Jones, Rodger [mailto:rmjones@dallasnews.com]
Sent: Friday, October 18, 2013 12:50 PM
To: Vinger, Tom
Subject: Re: One question on the EIC

They're not issued on the spot. Hmm.

So there's a chance, if you go to a DL office for a ECI on Saturday, Nov. 2, that you won't get yours in the mail for the Nov. 5 election.

On Fri, Oct 18, 2013 at 12:37 PM, Vinger, Tom <Tom.Vinger@dps.texas.gov> wrote:
It is a card that is mailed to you.

From: Jones, Rodger [mailto:rmjones@dallasnews.com]
Sent: Friday, October 18, 2013 10:59 AM
To: Vinger, Tom
Subject: One question on the EIC

Tom,

About the election identification certificate:

"Certificate" sounds like a big piece of paper.

How big is the EIC? Is it the size of a DL or bigger?

Can you put it in your wallet?

I can't tell from the picture on the DPS website.

--

Rodger Jones
Editorial Writer
The Dallas Morning News
(o) 214-977-8307
(m) 214-502-0634

--

Rodger Jones

Editorial Writer

The Dallas Morning News

(o) 214-977-8307

(m) 214-502-0634